SHOPPERS ON Friday take in the "Springtime Gardens" art exhibit at South Coast Plaza in Costa Mesa, open now through April 15.

'Springtime Gardens' in full bloom

Spring has sprung at Costa Mesa's South Coast Plaza, where now through April 15 visitors can shake off the winter doldrums as they enjoy a time-honored vernal tradition — Springtime Gardens.

The larger-than-life floral displays arrived earlier this month, as decorators worked on two separate installations in the Plaza's Carousel Court and its Crate & Barrell/Macy's Home Store wing. In keeping with beloved Easter themes, the carousel horses have been swapped out with bunnies.

Speaking of rabbits, organizers admit with some sadness that South Coast's traditional Easter bunnies will not be able to make a special appearance this year, due to the still-on-going coronavirus pandemic, but visitors and families can still pose for spring photo sessions and enjoy the finery they've come to appreciate over the years.

On Friday afternoon, locals snapped pics of small children and posed with one another in front of colorful pastel blossoms, eyeing the best photo ops and making memories with family and friends.

Others made a day out of it, stopping by the gardens on their way to one of a number of area restaurants that recently reopened indoor dining options after Orange County transitioned on March 14 into a less restrictive "red" reopening tier.

In addition to Springtime Gardens, South Coast Plaza has committed to participating in another spring rite of passage, hosting a modified version of the Southern California Spring Garden Show.

Still in the works, the event will kick off April 22 with the completion of a three-story floral centerpiece created by Fiesta Floats, a company famous for crafting floats for the annual Tournament of Roses Parade in Pasadena.

That celebration will feature garden-themed displays designed to showcase area landscape designers, home stores and outdoor living companies whose professionals know how to capture the magic of outdoors indoors.

A Costa Mesa man arrested Tuesday on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon is believed by police to be the same man suspected in a robbery last week that caused law enforcement officials to place three schools on temporary lockdowns during their search.

Jose Guadalupe Arce-Dominguez, 31, was being held Tuesday at Orange County's Theo Lacy facility stemming from his alleged involvement in two separate events that occurred on March 18 and 19, Costa Mesa police reported in a release issued Thursday.

Katrina Foley sworn in to Orange County Board of Supervisors

She said the Orange County fairgrounds would host a COVID-19 vaccination site.

BY SARA CARDINE

Newly elected County Supervisor Katrina Foley presented a vision Friday of her first 100 days in office during a virtual swearing-in ceremony in which she announced Costa Mesa's Orange County fairgrounds would host the county's next COVID-19 vaccination site.

Foley, who stepped down last week from her elected post as mayor of Costa Mesa, said officials with the Orange County Health Care Agency were anticipating a grand opening as soon as Wednesday.

"I'm working with them to make sure we have extended hours," she said, "so people who are working, especially in our hospitality community, working in our hotels, working in our restaurants, our theme parks and our fair have a chance to go and get vaccinated at a time when they don't have to take off from work and they don't have to lose wages."

Representatives with the county confirmed Wednesday's opening date in an email Friday but said exact plans were still being determined. Other vaccine super PODs (points of dispensing) include Disneyland in Anaheim, Aliso Viejo's Soka University and the Anaheim Convention Center.

Foley introduced her new deputy chief of staff Nicholas Anas, a former staffer for state Sen. Tom Umberg (D-Garden Grove), announcing he would also serve as chief COVID-19 recovery officer.

In addition to helping drive Orange County closer to the realization of "Operation Independence" — a countywide effort to vaccinate most residents and workers by the Fourth of July holiday — Foley said she plans to focus on housing and homelessness, assist

HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL

Marina outlasts Laguna in high-scoring affair

BY ANDREW TURNER

WESTMINSTER — As the adage goes, stranger things have happened. What transpired at Boswell Field on the campus of Westminster High School on Thursday night put that saying to the test.

What looked to be a bonafide blowout in the first half in a football game between host Marina High School and Laguna Beach turned into a shootout after the break.

Brantt Riederich and Gavin Dykema both ran for more than 100 yards and scored two touchdowns for Marina, as the Vikings held on to win 59-40 in the non-league game.

"I was practicing hard at running back, and we both push each other, and that's why I think we have a really nice running game this year," Dykema said, noting that he has regularly served as a receiver for the Vikings on offense.

Marina held a 33-0 half-time lead after scoring touchdowns on four consecutive offensive plays as part of a five-touchdown second quarter.

That stretch began with a fourth-down conversion that went for an 18-yard touchdown from Jack Miller to Wyatt McClour, who compiled four catches for 106 yards and three touchdowns.

MARINA'S GAVIN DYKEMA scores a touchdown against Laguna Beach at Boswell Field in Westminster on Thursday.

Following an interception by Gavin Del Toro, Miller connected with Dane Brenton over the middle for a 21-yard touchdown. Riederich and Dykema would score on runs of seven and 22 yards, respectively, to cap the run of 33 unanswered points.

Marina (2-1) has scored 93 points over its last two games after being held to six points in a season-opening loss to crosstown rival Huntington Beach.

"I think that kind of lit a fire under us," Riederich said. "I mean, Huntington, going from last year, it wasn't by any means a blowout last year, but this year is just a game-changer. First game, I think it was a rough first game for all of us."

After a flurry of scoring plays for the Vikings in the second quarter, Laguna Beach (1-1) used some big gains of its own to climb back into the contest.

It began with a 70-yard kickoff return for Tyler Fields. That set up the Breakers at the Marina 10 after a Vikings penalty. On third and goal, Will Bingham threw a touchdown pass to Myles Freeman to get Laguna Beach on the board.

"Personally, it energized me, but I think more importantly, it energized my teammates, as well," Breakers running back Jackson Golden said. "When they went back out on offense, back on defense, everyone was more hyped up after that play, so I think it helped by on a skateboard.

"The suspect stopped and confronted the victims and asked what they were laughing at," the release stated. "[He] opened a folding knife and threatened the victims, then lifted his shirt and exposed a handgun in his waistband."

The employees retreated into the business as Arce-

Dominguez reportedly fled on his skateboard north on Harbor Boulevard.

On Friday, at around 12:10 p.m., CMPD responded to a report of a robbery on the 2100 block of Placentia Avenue. A woman told officers she was confronted by a man after she'd reportedly

The man began to argue with the woman as she exited her vehicle and eventually punched her, knocking her to the ground, according to the release. As the victim fell, her cell phone fell on the ground next to her and was allegedly grabbed by the suspect, who fled north on foot and jumped a fence into a residential yard.

A responding officer saw the man on foot and chased after him as Costa Mesa police established a search perimeter. Nearby schools, including Estancia High School, Wilson Elementary School and Christian Lutheran School were advised to shelter in place until the perimeter was taken down, officials reported.

The suspect was still at large on Tuesday when, at approximately 2:30 p.m., officers noticed a man holding an open beer while skateboarding near Newport Boulevard and Vanguard Way who matched the description of the assault suspect, the release stated.

Officers arrested Arce-Dominguez for an outstanding warrant and transported him to the CMPD jail. But it wasn't until an officer at the station noticed a distinguishable tattoo on the suspect's body that he was linked to the March 19 robbery, in which the victim described a similar tattoo.

Arce-Dominguez was booked on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon and robbery.

Newport Harbor girls' soccer earns an emotional victory over Mayfair

Brielle Benedict and Jenna McConnaughey scored goals as the Newport Harbor High School girls' soccer team earned a 2-0 non-league win at Lakewood Mayfair on Thursday.

Kenna Robar assisted both goals for the Sailors (3-0-1), while goalkeepers Emily Park and Jessica Gardner combined on the shutout.

After the match, Newport Harbor coach Justin Schroeder said his players, who all had "Sal" written on their bodies and hearts drawn, presented white roses to Mayfair's players. The Newport Harbor program also presented Mayfair with a "Sal's Cup" trophy in honor of late Mayfair girls' soccer coach Sal Marroquin, with plans to inscribe the dates of future contests between the programs on the cup.

Schroeder, who formerly coached at Bellflower, was a good friend of Marroquin, who died on Jan. 25 at the age of 43 of an apparent heart attack.

The Breakers added two more touchdowns in the third quarter to narrow the deficit to 39-20 heading into the fourth quarter. Bingham found David Dworakowski for a 67-yard catch and run down the right sideline and Golden crashed into the end zone from eight yards out to account for the scoring.

Despite three more touchdowns by Golden in the fourth quarter, the Breakers never drew closer than the 19-point margin as the teams traded touchdowns. Golden had touchdown runs of 55 and 65 yards. He also scored on a 98-yard kickoff return, with Alex Morck making a key block on the play.

Golden finished with 135 rushing yards on 14 carries. His three rushing touchdowns came on his last three carries of the game. He had seven rushing yards at half-time.

quarterback in the fourth quarter for Marina.

Thursday marked the first time that Marina has played at its home venue of Boswell Field this season, where it won the CIF Southern Section Division 11 championship last year.

"It's nice," Marina coach Jeff Turley said of being back. "We were talking about it, going, 'What's with the weather, too? We come back and all of the sudden it gets cold, just to remind us of the championship night.'"

Several entries were made in the Laguna Beach record books. The 98-yard kickoff return for Golden tied Pat Wood (1993) and Drake Martinez (2012) for the third longest return in program history.

The combined total of 99 points ties the mark for the fifth-highest scoring game in which Laguna Beach has played. Additionally, the 40 points scored by the Breakers in the second half is second all-time for Laguna Beach.

"We're going to be a pretty good football team after this," Breakers coach John Shanahan said. "I think we'll be a real good football team after this game. They helped make us a better football team tonight, their coaches, their players, and again, I think our kids learned a lot. We'll be more physical, we'll be more sound, we'll practice harder."

of what he and his teammates call Team Cancer Crushers.

The team, composed of primarily students from Newport Harbor and Corona del Mar, participated in and won a national competition held by the nonprofit called "Students of the Year," a seven-week campaign during which high school students are encouraged to develop professional skills such as entrepreneurship, marketing and project management.

The donations are put toward research on blood cancer.

Emily Bartlett, the campaign development manager for the Leukemia and Lymphoma Society, said that the amount raised by Team Cancer Crushers is the highest to date in the Orange County and the Inland Empire chapter.

Thirteen teams, including Team Cancer Crushers, participated, raising $447,201 in total for the organization.

"Congratulations to Murphy, Julian and Luca, and all our candidates, supporters and volunteers who helped to make Students of the Year a huge success. Despite the unprecedented challenges throughout the COVID-19 pandemic, they never lost hope," executive director Kathlene Seymour said in a statement.

"While everyone was working to adjust to a 'new normal,' they relentlessly wanted to make sure to not forget the over 1.3 million people living with or in remission from a blood cancer, many of whom are children," Seymour said.

"For these individuals, it's not just about winning a title; it's all about the impact they are making in their communities and the generations ahead of them."

The organization estimates about 376,508 people are currently living with or are in remission from leukemia and about 791,550 living with or are in remission from lymphoma in the United States.

"We heard about it from last year's team, but also I've had cancer in my family," said Newport Harbor sophomore Luca Curci.

Julian and Murphy Malouf said they decided to participate because of their high school's history with the campaign and they wanted to continue the tradition.

The team formed in November and included students Justin Knott, McKenzie Greer, Race Barton, Oliver Ayala, Brady Hatfield, Jillian Schlom, Max Berkenfield, Noah Wickett, Dylan Li, Noah Foigleman, Kate Bashkore, Lucy Shannon and Juliane Kwong — all of whom the three team leaders were acquainted with from school.

"We asked people who would raise money and would actually care to do it," Murphy said.

Team Cancer Crushers said their main source of donations came in response to personal emails they sent seeking help for the cause.

"Everyone was so over quarantine and finally getting to see kids do some normal kid things, they wanted to support it and come out," Julian said in an interview Thursday.

Organizing was tough, the three admitted. Between classwork and their collective sports and clubs, they met twice a week — once with the full team and once with just the three of them.

They said that they passed down the torch to the next team, but that they're hoping to establish a club on campus to make sure the efforts to participate in the Students of the Year competition continue.

Murphy said he didn't realize until recently how big the Leukemia and Lymphoma Society is in terms of its fundraising efforts. He said felt it was "really cool" to raise the money they did for research to continue at the nonprofit.

Another priority the new District 2 supervisor identified Friday was transparency, something Foley said during her campaigning for the March 9 special election was lacking at the county level.

She described the formation of a new constituent services team that would collaborate with citizens, cities and educators on a weekly basis.

"We will answer questions for you, and we will be more transparent about what's happening in Orange County and our Board of Supervisors," she said. "I can't promise you we'll be perfect, but we will be better."
