ANNE CHEN, a junior at Sage Hill School, recently published a book as part of her Gold Award project for the Girl Scouts. Research on the book started last summer, and with time and help from her history teacher, she eventually settled on about 20 female figures she considered inspiring.

Sage Hill teen makes 'herstory' in book on women's history

Anne Chen, 16, recently published an activity book highlighting women empowerment and history.

BY LILLY NGUYEN

Anne Chen has her eyes on the Girl Scout Gold Award and, though it's taken her last summer to do it, she finished at least one part of the project in January: an activity book that she wrote on women in history. "How to Make HERSTORY," that is geared toward young girls between fifth grade and junior high.

An enthusiastic reader and writer, Chen, 16, said she decided her topic would be on women empowerment and history fairly early on and that she'd write a book — something that she said just made sense to her to do, given her interests.

"A really big part of my project was creating this book for younger girls," the Sage Hill junior said. "One of the biggest things I had in mind when I was working on the project is that women's history isn't really covered in primary education, especially in elementary and middle school. When you start learning about it, it really starts in high school. You start learning about Susan B. Anthony and Elizabeth Cady Stanton, but it's not really [deeply] embedded in a lot of school curriculum."

The Gold Award is the highest award a Girl Scout can earn and can be pursued by scouts between ninth and 12th grade, though they have up until Sept. 30 of the year that they graduate from high school to submit their final report.

Transit services key to Laguna Beach's summer parking management plan

Courtesy of city of Laguna Beach

THE CITY of Laguna Beach announced the summer trolley service will return on the Canyon, Coastal and Summer Breeze routes.

BY ANDREW TURNER

In preparation for the busy summer months, the Laguna Beach City Council approved a seasonal parking management plan aimed at addressing downtown parking demand and reducing traffic congestion.

The free summer trolley services will return with the exception of the Beach trolley, a pilot program introduced last year to provide ridership for residents looking to hit the sand and surf without the burden of driving and parking.

City officials said the Beach trolley service was available six hours a day — between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m., and again between 3 p.m. and 6 p.m. — during the period coinciding with the Laguna Beach Unified School District's summer recess. The service has been discontinued after it drew fewer than 4,000 boardings for the summer.

"We did market it in the neighborhoods," Michael Litschi, director of transit and community services for the city, said. "Unfortunately, we didn't really see a lot of people taking it. ... Probably a better metric to look at is the boardings per hour, so that takes the total number of boardings divided by the number of hours that service is running. The beach trolley had an average of less than five boardings per hour throughout the summer, and that contrasts with our Summer Breeze and our other trolley

GOP activist bids for 73rd district in 2024

Hengameh "Henny" Abraham could face off against incumbent Cottie Petrie-Norris in a newly reformed district.

BY SARA CARDINE

A Costa Mesa Republican and Iranian American, instrumental in getting numerous Orange County cities to voice support for the rights of Iranians being oppressed by the government, has entered the race for California's 73rd Assembly district.

Hengameh "Henny" Abraham, co-owner of a local holistic health and nutrition business and a support staff member for a Costa Mesa charter school site that supports parents who homeschool, announced her run on March 1.

"I've already had two fundraisers," she said Friday. "So, we're campaigning and we are go, go, go." Abraham's announcement positions her as the only 2024 Republican candidate so far in the newly reformed district that, after 2020 redistricting, includes the cities of Costa Mesa, Irvine and Tustin and is currently represented by Assemblywoman Cottie Petrie-Norris (D-Irvine).

Petrie-Norris was elected in November, beating out GOP challenger Steven "Steve" Choi, who'd represented the former 68th Assembly District since 2016. Should the Democratic incumbent seek reelection, she would face off against Abraham in the June 2024 primary ahead of the November

DAILY PILOT GIRLS' WATER POLO DREAM TEAM

Anna Reed spent four years as Newport Harbor's sturdy wall

BY MATT SZABO

Like many high school girls' water polo players, Anna Reed treasured trips up north to the Santa Barbara Tournament of Champions.

The four-year varsity starter at goalkeeper for Newport Harbor High went twice, as a freshman and a senior, the middle two years canceled due to the pandemic.

When she was a freshman, the young Sailors made a surprise trip to the tournament championship game. This year as a senior, the No. 7-seeded Sailors again surprised, rallying to beat rival Laguna Beach in the final to win the prestigious tournament for the first time in program history.

Reed earned tournament MVP.

"It was cool to go back and win it, kind of a start and finish," she said. "We didn't have Santa Barbara for two years, so it was cool. And it was a great experience for these girls, too — this new team."

Yes, Reed capped her four years in the program in style, as a great senior leader for a very young Sailors squad. For her efforts in and out of the water, she is the 2022-23 Daily Pilot Dream Team Player of the Year.

Newport Harbor coach Ross Sinclair said he never saw Reed, bound for USC, have a bad game in four years.

"She's obviously a great kid, a CIF champ, and I think she had a really big impact on this program for four years," Sinclair said. "This year alone, I think she grew a lot as a leader. I think that's going to bode well for her in the future, not just as a player but as a person, which is what matters."

The Sailors (20-8) needed Reed to lead, especially with Stanford-bound senior left-hander Avery Montiel missing most of the season with a shoulder injury. Chiara Amoroso, bound for Long Beach State, was the only other senior on the team.

It was a much different role than Reed's junior year, when a senior-laden Newport Harbor squad lost just one time and won both CIF Southern Section Open Division and CIF State SoCal Regional Division I titles. Reed said she wanted to be a good example this year, like Skylar Sepulveda was to her when she was a freshman.

And she was. She's always

MAYOR PRO TEM Will O'Neill, left, shakes hands with Jane Jones, co-founder and current director of academics during Carden Hall's 60th anniversary celebration Friday.

N.B. officials help Carden Hall celebrate anniversary

BY LILLY NGUYEN

Christy Jones Kalthoff joked that her conscious memory mirrors the history of Carden Hall, a Newport Beach private school now celebrating 60 years with the local community.

The daughter of school founders Jane and Albert Jones, Kalthoff said she remembers playing on the campus as her father finished up with the classrooms and was part of the first kindergarten class on campus when the school officially opened in 1963.

"I remember nothing before Carden Hall in my life," Kalthoff, who is now executive director, said in a recent interview. "It's kind of like having a sibling."

The school was founded on the principles of Mae Carden and her methodology called the Carden Method, which the school describes as one that "[has] a complete curriculum in which all subjects are interrelated and reinforced both within and among grade levels" and focuses on a holistic approach to teaching children by creating a positive school environment to learn in.

Kalthoff said she was taught by Carden, who died in 1977.

"There were other remarkable teachers and leaders who gave their lives to serving the vision of Carden Hall, and this year's been just a wonderful opportunity to remember those early workers and heroes whose legacy we still honor today," Kalthoff said.

Celebrations and events have been ongoing since the start of the school year last fall, but the assembly held on campus Friday was one that welcomed Newport Beach Mayor Noah Blom and Mayor Pro Tem Will O'Neill to deliver a proclamation that declared March 31, 2023, as "Carden Hall Day" and to honor Jane Jones.

Her husband and school co-founder, Albert, died in 2014.

"On behalf of the City Council, I commend Carden Hall for achieving this important milestone, with 60 years in our community. Congratulations to past and present faculty, staff, students and the Jones family on your many achievements," said Blom.

The school currently teaches about 461 students from prekindergarten through eighth grade and will be graduating its 58th class this June.

Elizabeth McRoberts has been teaching at Carden Hall for almost 40 years now, switching between kindergarten and first grade, though most of her tenure has been with the latter. McRoberts said she was a third-generation teacher and always knew she wanted to teach. She

Decades-old model flying club faces existential threat

Thank you for the article about the model glider flying at Fairview Park (Daily Pilot, March 25) and the problems faced by the pilots to continue. You did a good job of covering the subject. I will add a little more background here.

I was one of the founders of the Harbor Soaring Society (formerly Harbor Slope Soaring Society) and might possibly be the only founder left.

A group of us were slope soaring our then very primitive radio controlled gliders on the bluffs of east Back Bay when the Irvine Co. (land owner) told us we were trespassing and in order to get a permit from the company to continue to use the property, we would need to form a club and buy third-party liability insurance (naming the Irvine Co.) for anyone to fly there. That was the original reason for a club to be formed. This was 1962 as I recall.

We usually soared the slope lift of the east side Back Bay cliffs but we would sometimes go over to the Fairview cliff for a "change of pace." I first flew my model gliders at the Fairview site (it wasn't a park then) in 1963. It was a completely bare area with no vegetation and was continuous all the way back to Fairview hospital; Placentia Ave. was not there then. The reason it was completely bare of any plantlife was because the state had scraped soil from the entire surface to use in the building of the 405 Freeway. Therefore, all plant life and vernal pools are recent additions after the land was no longer being used by the state.

When the East Bluff area was developed into condos and apartments, we lost the place we were flying and moved to Fairview as our flying base of operations. So, sadly, if we are banned from flying there, it will be the second time we have lost our flying site, and there isn't a third choice in this area now. I will have witnessed the birth and death of the world's longest continuously operating radio controlled glider club in my 88 years on the planet.

H.B. housing needs aren't avoidable

What makes Huntington Beach Mayor Tony Strickland think that by abiding the state's mandate to provide an adequate amount of affordable housing (13,368 new units by 2029) will result in the urbanization of Surf City? And from where does the "95% built out" statistic that Strickland cites come?

The option to providing affordable housing to people appears to be a city full of people without housing pushing shopping carts filled with their belongings or panhandling on street corners.

Let's build the affordable housing required by state law. Without such livable accommodations what we are witnessing is the third-worldization of our seaside community.

Ben Miles
Huntington Beach

Once again, Patrice Apodaca chimes in with a column critical of Huntington Beach civic affairs and this time it all rings true. While her city of residence (Newport Beach) is not immune to right-wing shenanigans, she exposes our brand here as more uncouth and obstreperous. Apodaca refers to "ignoble moves" by the new City Council majority who do indeed suffer from "lockjaw of the mind" syndrome. She mentions the penalties and punishment the state can mete out, which could cripple our progress and place us in an adversarial and unsustainable position regarding our future housing needs. The pugilistic grandstanding of the council majority and their not so "Rocky-like" hero, City Atty. Michael Gates, is doing nothing to solve our affordable housing dilemma caused by past conservative council majorities in the first place. I sense either a KO or a TKO looming. The citizenry is being victimized by both the state and its own local government. Apodaca states that change is inevitable once the intolerant "narrow vision" of the current council majority is exposed for its dearth of true leadership and inability to tackle our problems and needs. I respond "Is that before or after it runs our city into the ground?"

Abraham, who worked as a campaign manager for Choi in his bid against Petrie-Norris, co-founded the Greater Costa Mesa Republicans in 2021 to reach a wider group of millennials, people of color and members of the LGBTQ community with similar political values.

"The notion that a Republican is an old white man sitting in a mansion no longer applies to Republicans in Orange County. We come in all shapes," said the 36-year-old self-described "millennial," who came to the U.S. from Iran in 2000 as a teenager, after her parents won a green card lottery. "There are a lot of Republicans, and we need to be a fair representation of what the party is here."

Last fall, Abraham organized demonstrations where Iranian Americans from both parties called on civic leaders to condemn human rights abuses in Iran. As a result 16 Orange County cities, including Costa Mesa, Irvine and Tustin passed resolutions she helped draft.

Although she ran for a seat in Costa Mesa City Council District 6 in 2020, she earned just 19.2% of the vote. Abraham says she's interested in running for office at the assembly level because she's been paying close attention to bills coming down the pipeline and doesn't like what she sees.

A supporter of parental rights, who pulled her son from Newport-Mesa Unified School District in 2021 in reaction to mask mandates and curriculum choices, she opposes a bill that would mandate HPV vaccines for all incoming high school freshmen and efforts to let young people make decisions about their gender.

She also believes in limiting taxes and assisting small businesses and says she plans to discuss with voters the struggles people are facing in a post-pandemic inflation period.

"I know, if you're a small business, how hard it's been trying to keep your business afloat, or if you're a parent, how you've been struggling, or how difficult it is to go to the grocery store and not be able to afford your same grocery haul," she said. "My opponent cannot say the same thing."

services, which had on average 25 to 30 or more boardings per hour. ... We do have the expanded on-demand [Laguna Local] service into North and South Laguna."

Laguna Local on-demand transit service operating hours will begin at 9:30 a.m. daily from June 30 through Labor Day. The service will run until 8:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday, until 11:30 p.m. on Friday and Saturday, and conclude at 6 p.m. on Sunday.

The Coastal trolley will operate from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 p.m. daily, transporting passengers between North Laguna and Mission Hospital along Coast Highway.

Visitors can catch the Summer Breeze trolley from a peripheral parking lot located at 16355 Laguna Canyon Road in Irvine, the route taking passengers from near the 405 Freeway-State Route 133 interchange into town. The service runs on weekdays between 10 a.m. and 11:30 p.m., and an additional day will be added with Friday hours from noon to 11:30 p.m.

The Canyon trolley will bring people to the art festivals and the downtown from the Act V and Laguna College of Art and Design parking lots.

Free public parking will be provided in the peripheral lots at Mission Hospital (160 spaces) after 5 p.m. on weekdays and all day on weekends, along the Coastal trolley route. Parking will also be free at UMass Global (100-plus spaces), where the Summer Breeze trolley picks up passengers before heading into the city, after noon on Fridays and after 10 a.m. on weekends.

The Act V parking lot, in close proximity to the art festivals — Art-A-Fair, Festival of Arts and Sawdust, was utilized at roughly half its capacity last summer. To encourage increased use of the lot, Mayor Bob Whalen requested that the weekday rate for the Act V parking lot be reduced to $5. It had been set at $7. The weekend rate will remain $10.

Summer parking rates will be in effect from June 26 to Sept. 4. During that time, rates will be set at $5.45 per hour in the downtown area and $3 in other parts of the city. It will cost $17 for the day during the week and $24 on the weekend to park at the Village Entrance. Parking at the Susi Q and Community Center and at Hagan Place will be $6 for the day.

Chen said research for her book started last summer and that she didn't at first know exactly who she wanted to highlight. With time and some help from her history teacher, she eventually settled on about 20 female figures she considered inspiring, which she then divided across three separate sections: "Leaders and Activists," "Trailblazers and Pioneers" and "Storytellers and Thinkers."

Of them, Chen mentioned Girl Scouts of the USA founder Juliette Gordon Low; founder of modern nursing, Florence Nightingale; and designer and sculptor Maya Lin. Nightingale and Lin's mentions were suggested by her family, she said. The other history-making women she added to the collection included not only names she was previously familiar with but also some she came across while doing her research.

Chen said she included a quote from Low on the back of the book "because she's the kind of person who really inspired this and

She did much of the writing in the summer, then picked it up again in the fall before finalizing the book with a graphic designer in December. By January, it was published and is now available for purchase on Amazon.

Chen said she will be hosting a workshop at this year's GEMfest, hosted at Sage Hill School. During the event participants will work together on activities related to famous female figures in history and each participant will be receiving their own copy of "How to Make HERSTORY."

CITY OF NEWPORT BEACH NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on Thursday, April 13, 2023, at 10:00 a.m. or soon thereafter as the matter shall be heard, a public hearing will be conducted online via Zoom. The Zoning Administrator of the City of Newport Beach will consider the following application:

Smith Residence - A coastal development permit (CDP) to allow the construction of a new 4,220-square-foot, three (3)-story, single-unit dwelling with an attached 588-square-foot three (3)-car garage. The project includes landscape, hardscape, drainage, and accessory structures all within the confines of the property. The project complies with all development standards and no deviations are requested. All improvements authorized by this CDP will be located on private property. This CDP (PA2022-0306) will supersede a previously approved CDP (PA2020-323). Demolition of the existing single-unit dwelling was completed under the prior CDP and the lot is currently vacant.

The project also includes additional improvements that are subject to separate review by the California Coastal Commission. The existing bulkhead is located beyond the front property line, therefore a portion of the front deck and bulkhead are located within the California Coastal Commission's permit jurisdiction. This Coastal Development Permit is intended to cover portions of the project within the City's permit authority as designated in the Local Coastal Program (Title 21 of the Newport Beach Municipal Code).

The project is categorically exempt under Section 15303 under Class 3 (New Construction or Conversion of Small Structures) of the State CEQA (California Environmental Quality Act) Guidelines.

All interested parties may appear and present testimony in regard to this application. If you challenge this project in court, you may be limited to raising only those issues you raised at the public hearing or in written correspondence delivered to the City, at, or prior to, the public hearing. The application may be continued to a specific future meeting date, and if such an action occurs, additional public notice of the continuance will not be provided. Administrative procedures for appeals are provided in the Newport Beach Municipal Code Chapter 21.64. A fee is not required to appeal any final action on a coastal development permit to the Planning Commission. A fee is required to appeal any final action on a coastal development permit to the City Council. The project site is located within the appeal area of the coastal zone; therefore, final action by the City may be appealed to the California Coastal Commission.

The agenda, staff report, and corresponding documents will be available by end of business day on the Friday preceding the public hearing and may be reviewed at the Community Development Department Permit Center (Bay C-1st Floor), at 100 Civic Center Drive, Newport Beach, CA 92660 or the City of Newport Beach website at www.newportbeachca.gov/zoningadministrator. Please review the Zoning Administrator Agenda for Zoom participation instructions. Individuals not able to attend the meeting may contact the Planning Division or access the City's website after the meeting to review the action on this application. All mail or written communications (including email) from the public, residents, or applicants regarding an agenda item must be submitted by 12:00 p.m. on the business day immediately prior to the meeting. This allows time for the Zoning Administrator to adequately consider the submitted correspondence.

For questions regarding this public hearing item please contact Afshin Atapour, Assistant Planner at 949-644-3237, aatapour@newportbeachca.gov, 100 Civic Center Drive, Newport Beach, CA 92660.

CITY OF NEWPORT BEACH NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on Thursday, April 13, 2023, at 10:00 a.m. or soon thereafter as the matter shall be heard, a public hearing will be conducted online via Zoom. The Zoning Administrator of the City of Newport Beach will consider the following application:

Cabraloff Residence - A coastal development permit (CDP) to allow the demolition of an existing single-unit dwelling and construction of a new 3,127-square-foot, three (3)-story, single-unit dwelling with an attached 471-square-foot, two (2)-car garage. The project includes landscape, hardscape, drainage, and accessory structures all within the confines of the property. The project complies with all development standards and no deviations are requested. All improvements authorized by this CDP will be located on private property.

The project also includes additional improvements that are subject to separate review by the California Coastal Commission. The subject property is bisected by the coastal permit jurisdiction boundary, resulting in a portion of the front patio accessory improvements, bulkhead improvements, and new dock within California Coastal Commission's permit jurisdiction. This Coastal Development Permit is intended to cover portions of the project within the City's permit authority as designated in the Local Coastal Program (Title 21 of the Newport Beach Municipal Code).

said she chose Carden Hall because she liked the energy that Albert Jones brought, the beauty of the location and the school's focus on character development first and foremost.

Her own two children went to Carden Hall, she said.

"I think children have changed over the years, but what I love about this school is that our core values have remained consistent. That's an important part of our mission," McRoberts said.

"Children have changed, parents have changed, but our core values and our method of teaching stays consistent and has been tried and true for 60 years."

McRoberts joked that she's said every year she's on the five-year plan to retire, but she's probably two years past that already because she gets choked up every time she thinks about leaving.

A highlight for French teacher Carol Sutton, who's been at Carden Hall for 41 years now, is the yearly Thanksgiving assembly, where she feels that students sing from a place of gratitude that can make her cry. She also loves the Cotton Cotillion on campus and seeing students' enthusiasm.

Sutton said she only planned on staying for a couple of years but has now spent most of her career at the private school. She said she felt all the teachers and staff were on the same page and has heard many good comments about Carden Hall students as they head to high schools in and around the area.

"When we run into students, I run into students and parents and it feels wonderful to know the impact we've had on the community when years later kids are still grateful for the lessons they've learned and the happy memories," said Sutton.

Kalthoff said the campus, through all these years, has preserved what she feels is an old school character while also not staying in the past. And in reviewing some of the pictures taken from the start of Carden Hall until now, she joked that the most significant differences were in the hairstyles of the parents and teachers, though big bows in little girls' hair have stayed in vogue throughout the decades.

"[The anniversary] really struck me as a chance to do two things: to celebrate our past, the rich story of Carden Hall, and we have a lot of young students, young families, young staff, and we don't always have a chance to tell that story. If you're a part of this community, it's your story," Kalthoff said.

"I want to bring that story to life, that past to life and wrap it together with what we're doing now and launch us into the future because connecting that past and that future is my job at Carden Hall."

worked hard, especially at 5-foot-7, not super-tall for a goalkeeper.

"I've had to up my IQ and really work hard with my legs so that I can be more explosive," Reed said. "When you have long arms, you don't have to lunge as far. You still have to work really hard, it's just a little bit easier."

The Sailors had an up-and-down season, but never backed down. Despite finishing third in the Surf League, they beat league champion Los Alamitos once, nearly winning the other league match before losing in sudden-death overtime. Newport Harbor again qualified for the Open Division playoffs before losing at Los Alamitos in the quarterfinals.

Reed earned first-team All-Surf League and first-team All-CIF honors. Now she's excited to head to USC, where her former Newport teammate Morgan Netherton currently plays.

Netherton was last year's Dream Team Player of the Year.

"I haven't totally wrapped my head around it that [my high school career] is over, but I'm proud of what I've been able to do, with the help of so many amazing coaches and teammates along the way," Reed said. "I wouldn't change anything for the world. This program means so much to me, and I couldn't be more thankful for what it's given me."

Here's a look at the Coach of the Year and the first-team and second-team Dream Team selections:

COACH OF THE YEAR

Ross Sinclair

under Sinclair's leadership, they may have overachieved. With just two seniors in the water for much of the season, Newport Harbor still won its first Santa Barbara Tournament of Champions title and nearly beat the Surf League champion Griffins twice in league play. Credit Sinclair for having the Sailors ready to always put up a fight, no matter the opponent.

FIRST TEAM

Charlotte Riches
2M | Laguna Beach | Sr.
A second-team Dream Team selection last year, Riches stepped up even more as a senior for first-year coach Claire Sonne. She finished with 57 goals, second on the Breakers, and worked hard at center to lead the team with 51 ejections and penalties drawn. Riches was an all-tournament team selection at the Santa Barbara Tournament of Champions, first-team All-Surf League and first-team All-CIF Open Division, helping the Breakers (19-10) make the playoff semifinals and nearly rally to beat Foothill. She is bound for Princeton.

Ryan Chalupnik
2M | Newport Harbor | Jr.
Chalupnik made a big leap as a junior, turning into a dominant center worthy of the Sailors' recent tradition of them with players like Olivia Giolas and Bia Mantellato. On a young team, she was able to not only draw exclusions but finish, and should enter her senior season as one of the top players in Southern California. Chalupnik was an all-tournament team selection at the Santa Barbara Tournament of Champions after helping the Sailors win the title, and also earned second-team All-Surf League accolades.

Aubrie Anderson
ATT | Corona del Mar | Sr.
Anderson, bound for Brown, was one of the most versatile players in the area. She helped the senior-heavy Sea Kings (19-9) have another successful season a year after winning the Division 1 title. Anderson had 30 goals and team-best totals of 39 assists and 78 steals, as CdM won the Wave League and pushed top-seeded Foothill in the Open Division quarterfinals. She was the Wave League MVP.

Maddy Scarth
UTIL | Huntington Beach | Sr.

She moved to Orange County from British Columbia, Canada as a senior, and ended up being a big-time leader for first-year coach Beth Bailey. Able to play any field position in the pool, Scarth led the Oilers (14-14) in scoring. Though Huntington Beach moved up to the Surf League and was winless there, Scarth led the team to the Division 1 playoffs after it won its final regular-season game at Mira Costa to achieve the .500 record necessary to qualify as an at-large team. Scarth is bound for Michigan.

Addie Juelfs
ATT | Costa Mesa | Jr.

Juelfs was a first-team Dream Team selection last year as a sophomore, and backed that up this year with yet-another 100 goal season. The talented and speedy junior finished with a team-best 103 goals, and repeated as Orange Coast League MVP. A team with plenty of key senior scorers as well, Costa Mesa (16-9) won another league title and earned a CIF victory for the second straight year, too. The Mustangs edged Fullerton 9-8 at home in the first round of the Division 3 playoffs before losing on the road at No. 3-seeded El Toro in the second round.

Justine Chomchavalit
ATT | Edison | Jr.

Chomchavalit had a good outside shot for the Chargers but could also post up and play center, or guard center as well. A year after contributing to Edison's first CIF final in program history, the team MVP finished as a first-team All-Wave League selection. She helped Edison (7-16) finish second in league and advance to the postseason, losing at Riverside King 16-3 in the first round. The Chargers recently hired alumnus Jarrett Tossey as their new head coach, and he's lucky to have a versatile player like Chomchavalit ready to contribute as a senior next year.

Ava Knepper
ATT | Laguna Beach | Jr.

Coming from an off-season where Knepper started shining for Team USA, she had some bad luck with injuries as a junior. Still, she remained one of the most dangerous players in the pool at all times. Knepper led Laguna Beach with 69 goals scored, including 19 penalty shots, and tied for second on the Breakers with 28 steals.

She was a second-team All-Surf League selection and has committed to USC.

Lauren Schneider

GK | Laguna Beach | Sr.
Like Reed, Schneider was a four-year varsity goalie, and both are going to USC. Schneider continued anchoring the Laguna Beach defense as a senior, and finished with 227 saves and 28 assists. She was a first-team All-Surf League and first-team All-CIF selection.

For her sparkling career, she had 741 saves, which ranks just two saves behind Breakers assistant coach Thea Walsh in the school record book.
