WHAT TO EXPECT AT CAMP THIS SUMMER

Now more than a year into the pandemic, and schools are back in session. With summertime camps taking the place of school, it's time to get a summer's perspective from the parents' viewpoint. For many, summer camps are simply the new normal to get kids back to real life.

More local campers will be hosting in-person programs this summer. The YMCA, the Boys & Girls Club of Greater San Diego and Coastalkiddos are accepting registrations welcoming back kids with updated modified guidelines and new types of measures to help keep kids safe and healthy for the summer.

For additional safety measures, parents should remind children how to properly wash their hands, enforce social distancing and mask wearing. Reminding children about how to properly wash their hands before eating the first step in ensuring the safety of everyone involved. The Y will be following all CDC guidelines and having extra cleaning and sanitizing between camp sessions. The Frog Pond Science Center is also operating with new cleaning protocols that give them the best experience and safety for everyone involved.

For additional safety measures, parents should make sure that the camp is following the latest CDC guidelines and that all cleaning and sanitizing protocols are in place. The best way to verify that a camp is following the latest guidelines is to check with the local health department or the CDC website.

The San Diego Museum of Art
(Museum of Art)
600 Prospect St, Balboa Park (619) 238-1233 ext. 847 sdcoastalkiddos.com
(858) 534-3474

This summer, Birch Aquarium is offering virtual camp sessions and in-person camp sessions on a variety of topics that are perfect for the science enthusiast who is right at home with friends. To call the camp programs is to experience the fun of hands-on camp meetings up close.

For daily virtual summer camps, Birch Aquarium has partnered with Aquarist Academy, a leader in virtual educational programming. The Aquarist Academy offers virtual classes with live experts to engage kids and keep their minds curious. Birch Aquarium is also offering hands-on camps for kids and their parents, “wanting to celebrate something special, such as birthdays. Call now or go online to book a custom virtual or in-person camp.”

Coastal Kiddos
Coastal Kiddos was created to connect children with the outdoors. in today’s world, too many kids are growing up in the virtual world. Our goal is to bring the learning to the world. The camp aims to bring local and national treasures and wonders to all of San Diego. Our programs are designed to help kids learn and explore their world in a safe, fun, and safe environment.

Coastal Kiddos 1450 El Prado, Balboa Park (619) 238-1233 ext. 847 sdcoastalkiddos.com

Coastal Kiddos is offering virtual camps with aquarium animals, live or recorded adventures, and fun and engaging activities. The camp is also offering fee-based programs for kids and adults, including virtual tours of the museum. Students are also invited to participate in a special online exhibition event each Friday to showcase their favorite works of art for family, friends, and the public to enjoy. For more information on art camp in the San Diego Union-Tribune, visit EIS at www.sduniontribune.com.

Malashock Dance
Malashock Dance offers a variety of classes and camps in a safe environment. Classes for kids and adults are taught by guest instructors at Malashock’s state-of-the-art studio in the Arts District Liberty Station.

2016 Point Loma, Suite 104, Liberty Station (619) 266-1622 ext. 1, malashock.com/malashock-dance/summer-2021

Pacific Coast Gymnastics
Pacific Coast Gymnastics has offered various programs with the hand-on fun and family atmosphere in North County. For more information call, text or email at (858) 866-0591.

San Diego County health officials are still urging parents to bring their kids to local summer camps. Many local camps will be hosting in-person programs this summer. The YMCA, the Boys & Girls Club of Greater San Diego and Coastalkiddos are accepting registrations welcoming back kids with updated modified guidelines and new types of measures to help keep kids safe and healthy for the summer.

The YMCA serves individuals and families of all ages, backgrounds, abilities, all income levels and without concern for ability to pay. The YMCA is a healthful community where all are welcome and engaged.

On the Y’s summer camp program, parents can make sure that the camp is following the latest CDC guidelines and that all cleaning and sanitizing protocols are in place. The best way to verify that a camp is following the latest guidelines is to check with the local health department or the CDC website. The Y is taking every precaution we can to ensure our camps are safe, knowing how important these camps are to kids and their parents.”

The YMCA serves individuals and families of all ages, backgrounds, abilities, all income levels and without concern for ability to pay. The YMCA is a healthful community where all are welcome and engaged.

For additional safety measures, parents should make sure that the camp is following the latest CDC guidelines and that all cleaning and sanitizing protocols are in place. The best way to verify that a camp is following the latest guidelines is to check with the local health department or the CDC website.

San Diego Unified School District
Mr. Michael M. Hofmann
Superintendent of Schools
2016 Point Loma, Suite 104, Liberty Station (619) 266-1622 ext. 1, malashock.com/malashock-dance/summer-2021

Pacific Coast Gymnastics
Pacific Coast Gymnastics has offered various programs with the hand-on fun and family atmosphere in North County. For more information call, text or email at (858) 866-0591.

San Diego County health officials are still urging parents to bring their kids to local summer camps. Many local camps will be hosting in-person programs this summer. The YMCA, the Boys & Girls Club of Greater San Diego and Coastalkiddos are accepting registrations welcoming back kids with updated modified guidelines and new types of measures to help keep kids safe and healthy for the summer.

The YMCA serves individuals and families of all ages, backgrounds, abilities, all income levels and without concern for ability to pay. The YMCA is a healthful community where all are welcome and engaged.

On the Y’s summer camp program, parents can make sure that the camp is following the latest CDC guidelines and that all cleaning and sanitizing protocols are in place. The best way to verify that a camp is following the latest guidelines is to check with the local health department or the CDC website. The Y is taking every precaution we can to ensure our camps are safe, knowing how important these camps are to kids and their parents.”

The YMCA serves individuals and families of all ages, backgrounds, abilities, all income levels and without concern for ability to pay. The YMCA is a healthful community where all are welcome and engaged.

For additional safety measures, parents should make sure that the camp is following the latest CDC guidelines and that all cleaning and sanitizing protocols are in place. The best way to verify that a camp is following the latest guidelines is to check with the local health department or the CDC website. The Y is taking every precaution we can to ensure our camps are safe, knowing how important these camps are to kids and their parents.”

The YMCA serves individuals and families of all ages, backgrounds, abilities, all income levels and without concern for ability to pay. The YMCA is a healthful community where all are welcome and engaged.