Surf City Splash returns as Surfrider readies new chapter

BY MATT SZABO

The Surf City Splash returns for the first time in three years on Sunday.

People, often wearing creative costumes, will jump into the chilly ocean near the Huntington Beach Pier at high noon to kick off 2023. And the New Year's Day dip is all for an environmentally friendly cause.

The Surf City Splash, which started 23 years ago, will benefit the nonprofit Surfrider Foundation. The event is on and rain is not currently in the forecast, though it is the night before on New Year's Eve, and cold and windy conditions could prevail.

"Rain or shine, it's happening," Surfrider Foundation Huntington Beach/Seal Beach co-chair KC Fockler said with a smile. "I mean, you're getting wet anyway if you're coming down here."

Surfrider has some news of its own to share.

Before the splash, the Huntington Beach Chamber of Commerce will conduct a ribbon-cutting ceremony to officially announce Surfrider's new North Orange County chapter.

Nighttime bus rides free New Year's Eve

BY ERIC LICAS

All rides on Orange County Transit Authority buses will be free between 6 p.m. Saturday and 2:30 a.m. Sunday, which means revelers shouldn't have to choose between ringing in the new year and getting home safely.

Orange County's public transportation system reaches popular destinations like Disneyland and Knott's Berry Farm, and most buses make their final stops between 9:30 and 11 p.m.

Line 55, for example, which runs through Newport Beach, Costa Mesa and Santa Ana,

2 dogs rescued in house fire in Huntington Beach

BY DAILY PILOT STAFF

Huntington Beach fire officials are investigating the cause of a blaze that broke out Tuesday evening on the second floor of a home on 20th Street, from which two dogs had to be rescued.

Jennifer Carey, a public affairs manager for the city, said a call came in shortly after 6:30 p.m. regarding reports of visible fire and heavy smoke issuing from the second floor of a residence on the 200 block of 20th Street.

The occupants were not home at the time of the incident, she confirmed Wednesday.

"There were no injuries to civilians or firefighters," Carey said. "Two live dogs were found inside, but firefighters were able to rescue them and get them back to their owners."

Crews extinguished the fire within minutes of responding to the scene. The damage was not severe enough for the building to be declared uninhabitable, according to an incident report.

Carey said investigators are still looking into the cause of the fire and its exact origin inside the structure.

O.C. Fair organizers announce new theme, dates (and prices) for 2023

BY SARA CARDINE

As this year winds to a close, organizers of the Orange County Fair are already looking ahead to summer, having recently announced a new theme, dates, hours and an increase in ticket prices for next year's big event.

Themed "Happy Together," the 2023 O.C. Fair will run Wednesdays through Sundays from July 14 through Aug. 13 and feature a special focus on community inclusion, the Orange County Fair & Event Center announced earlier this month.

"We've been working all year to once again bring the community together for all the special fun and goodness the O.C. Fair offers — food, rides, animals, entertainment, shopping, exhibits and more," Chief Executive Michele Richards said in a statement. "We can't wait for opening day on July 14."

Man pleads guilty in rape of fellow patient at Huntington Beach clinic

BY CITY NEWS SERVICE

A 28-year-old man faces five to eight years in prison after pleading guilty to the rape of a developmentally disabled woman at Huntington Beach Hospital last year, according to court records obtained Tuesday.

Adrian Alfredo Sanchez of Garden Grove pleaded guilty Dec. 13 to felony allegations of rape of an incompetent person, rape and two counts of assault with the intent to commit a sex offense. He is scheduled to be sentenced Feb. 9 in the West Justice Center in Westminster.

The attack he admitted to happened in the mental health services clinic of a hospital on June 23, 2021.

He and the victim were patients there at the time. Sanchez had initially denied the charges but later entered a plea deal, according to court documents. He could serve five to eight years in prison, according to the terms of the agreement.

Beach/Seal Beach chapter and Newport Beach chapter. But these will merge, and the organization also seeks to bring its mission of protecting the ocean, waves and beaches inland.

"You get some critical mass of people, and it also gives us an opportunity to try to get some of the inland cities," said Steve Riggs, who will serve as the North Orange County chapter treasurer. "Having a North Orange County chapter is identified much stronger than just Huntington/Seal Beach or Newport Beach. If you go to Brea or you go to Anaheim or Yorba Linda, they all have storm drains that spill out into either the Santa Ana River or the San Gabriel River. The majority of the pollution that comes down is from the inland cities, and it's hard to get their attention because they're not the ones that receive all the crud when it comes down the rivers.

"Just changing the name to North Orange County, I think it's going to give us a big opportunity to get the inland cities, who are also big contributors, to maybe get a little bit more united."

Fockler said the Huntington Beach and Newport Beach chapters adopted a mile-and-a-half stretch of the Santa Ana River last year, about 4 miles upstream from the ocean.

"We do have monthly channel cleanups, and they usually range anywhere from 900 pounds to about 1,700 pounds of trash that we get out in a single two-hour cleanup,” he said. “That’s a lot of trash.”

John Wadsworth, currently the vice-chair of the Surf Rider Newport Beach chapter, will co-chair the new North Orange County chapter with Richard Busch.

Wadsworth said the Santa Ana River is easily one of the biggest contributors to marine pollution in Southern California.

“Our bread and butter are beach cleanups,” he said. “We do those really well, but those are reactive, in my opinion. If we can be more proactive, get to the inland communities and raise awareness there, get other city governments involved that are miles from the coastline, then I think we can make a real scalable impact on trying to make a dent in this issue.”

As for the Surf City Splash, those interested can register online at hbsurfcitysplash.com. There is also an online auction there that runs until Sunday afternoon.

A burrito breakfast, which costs $15, will be provided starting at 9 a.m. by Zack’s At The Pier. Fockler said Huntington Beach Mayor Tony Strickland will also speak at the event, and there’s also a costume contest.

The Surf City Splash has run into bad luck in recent years, though about 1,000 people participated the last time it was held, in January 2020.

Due to the ongoing pandemic in 2021, participants were asked to do a “solo splash” and send in their videos.

The latest iteration this past January also was officially canceled due to a big sewage spill in Long Beach, so organizers are hopeful that a good number of people will show up Sunday.

“It’s one of those things where it’s out of sight, out of mind,” Fockler said. “It’s almost like we’re starting over again. We’re hoping that the winds don’t materialize.”

lected in a Dec. 15 meeting of the OCFEC Board of Directors, who also decided to maintain a cap on attendance implemented in 2021, restricting admission to 45,000 visitors daily. As such, some days are anticipated to sell out. Last year’s attendance was closed at 1,055,173 with 11 sold-out days.

Fairgoers will once more be asked to purchase tickets online in advance, which are going to cost slightly more this year. General admission was increased by $1, making weekday entry $13 and weekends $15. Tickets for seniors and children ages 6 to 13 have gone up $2, to $9, for all days.

Parking for the fair and for events held year-round at the Costa Mesa fairgrounds has also increased to $12 per day. No service fees will be charged for online ticket purchases.

To keep costs down for repeat visitors, organizers have announced a new feature in 2023. The O.C. Fair Every Day Passport will allow a pass holder to visit the event any day of its 23-day run without advanced tickets required. A total of 10,000 passports will be offered at $60 apiece when tickets go on sale early next year.

While the cost of admission has gone up, the fair’s operating hours on weekdays and weekends have decreased for 2023. The new hours are 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. on Wednesdays, Thursdays and Sundays and from 11 a.m. to midnight on Fridays and Saturdays. For more, visit ocfair.com.

“It’s always dangerous out there,” Whalen said. “I cross that road a lot, living in North Laguna, and even when you press the button and the light goes, you have to wait for cars to stop. You can’t assume they’re going to stop, so that’s a caution to everybody — even with the lights, be careful. Make sure people have stopped before you really venture out into the roadway.”

To begin the new year, a seven-week lane closure is expected for the right lane on the southbound side of Coast Highway just south of School/State Park, which serves as an access point to El Morro Elementary. Angela Madison, acting chief of public affairs for Caltrans, said the project will

You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. NOTICE TO TENANT: Effective January 1, 2021, you may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer," you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder," you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call (855) 313-3319, or visit this internet website www.clearreconcorp.com, using the file number assigned to this case 105852-CA to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. makes its last southbound stop at the Newport Transportation Center and its last northbound stop at Flower and 6th Streets at 9:35 and 9:55 p.m., respectively.

Route maps and schedules can be found at OCTA's website. Holiday hours will be in effect.

Taking a bus instead of driving to gatherings for New Year's Eve may take some extra planning. But doing so avoids the hassle of finding parking and the risk of getting pulled over after celebrating with a few too many drinks, or, even worse, getting into a crash.

Orange County law enforcement have stepped up efforts to spot impaired drivers during the holiday season.

OCTA has been giving free bus rides on New Year's Eve, at least in part as an alternative to drinking and driving, for most of the past 20 years. The program was first offered in 2002, went on hiatus amid the height of the COVID-19 pandemic in 2020 and returned in 2021, OCTA officials said in a news release.
